samegoal
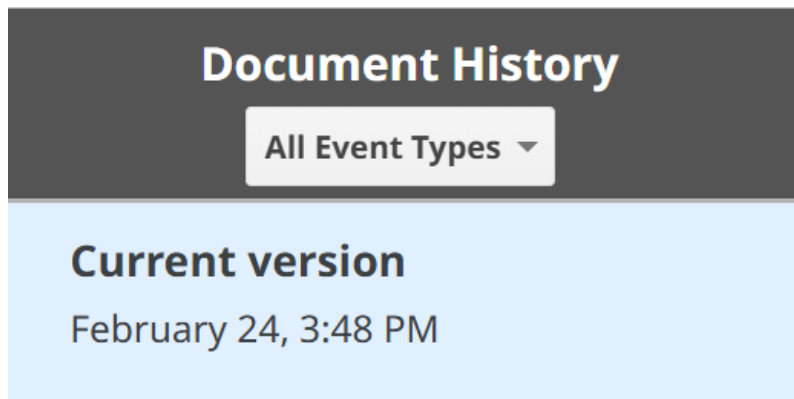

Document History

Version History Feature Rename
March 21, 2025

We wanted to inform you all of a very exciting change: Version History has been renamed to Document History!

As you may be aware, we are currently in the process of rolling out support for tracking several new types of document events. Now that we track much more than just historical document versions, we wanted to rename this feature to something that better reflects the current functionality. Thus, Version History will now be referred to as Document History in the app as well as on our support pages.

Moving forward, please keep in mind that if you are searching for resources on our online support guides to help with the Version/Document History feature, you should be looking for Document History.